

Do team-build days really add value?

You might have organised a team-build day that people enjoyed, but wondered if it had any long-term effect. It was a fun day out for your staff, but did it address any of your specific business needs . . . ?

IMPACT PRESENTATIONS will give you the winning edge

- ✓ We'll work with you to tailor the day to your own team objectives, including any of your key messaging, company goals and business branding, as required
- ✓ Your staff will take on long-term life skills – techniques that increase their self-confidence and performance levels
- ✓ They'll learn the people skills to perform and to develop strong relationships with future delegates
- ✓ Your team members will get to know each other better and enjoy the experience of performing well together, increasing their desire to cooperate
- ✓ And they will still be talking about the day months (or years) later

Magic is a proven strategy to captivate clients and colleagues

A team-build day with Impact Presentations is unique, powerful and inspiring

Some of the other skills included in our team-build days:

- ✓ Ice breaking
- ✓ Helping others gain confidence
- ✓ Working in and controlling a group
- ✓ Self-motivation and how to motivate others

"Lee joined Oyster IMS at recent event where he attracted, retained and delighted hundreds of conference guests. His performance was engaging, flexible, innovative and entirely 'on message', amplifying our presence and making visitors warm to our proposition. Lee is a true professional, a real gentleman and – naturally – a charmer! I really look forward to working with Lee again in future and would be happy to recommend him, except to my competitors."
